From the Principal ...

Dear Families,

Next week brings us to the last week of term.

I'm sure you all agree that it has absolutely flown, but from my perspective, I could not have enjoyed it more. It has been wonderful getting to know all of the students, they are such a great bunch, and it has been a real privilege to work with our staff, who, as I have mentioned before, are extremely hard working and totally centred on ensuring all children are learning and thriving.

Also, whilst I haven't met all the parents, it has been great getting to know most of you and I am feeling a great sense of partnership between the school and the families. One of the things I have come to learn over my time in education is that children are much better served when the school and the home work together and support one another in helping children navigate the many nuances of growing up - OLSH is doing this very well, thank you everyone.

The reminders for this week:

- Cross Country is Wednesday, April 6th for the whole school. Please complete the permission forms via PAM asap
- The Resilience Project Parent Online Session is Wednesday, April 6th, beginning at 6.30pm. Please see details inside today's newsletter to be able to log into this session
- Our senior students are involved in a couple of wonderful, community-based initiatives this week. On Wednesday they are taking our 'can collection' to foodshare to be distributed amongst the community and on Thursday they are making morning tea for the staff at Elmore Health as a way of saying thanks for their huge efforts in supporting the community during the pandemic
- Friday, April 8th is our last day of term, which means that school will finish at 2.25pm on this day, to keep in line with the bus timetable.

Have a great week ahead everyone,

Craig Simpson
Principal

LENT & EASTER

Lent & Easter: Celebrating the Paschal Mystery

INTRODUCTION

Every moment of human life is subject to the play of multiple rhythms of time, some daily, others weekly, monthly, yearly or seasonal. Annual rhythms include the calendar year, the financial year, the school year, the sporting year, and the cycle of nature's seasons. There are the seasons of life too - childhood, adolescence, adulthood, middle age and older years - punctuated by particular personal anniversaries such as birthdays, weddings, deaths.

The liturgical year

For Christian believers there's another, more fundamental, rhythm. It's the calendar of faith, the annual cycle of feasts and seasons by which the church celebrates the mystery of Jesus Christ. The proper name for this is the "liturgical year" though this expression only became current in the 20th century. Revised fifty years ago by authority of the Second Vatican Council, the liturgical year has become a familiar experience for regular church-goers.

The first Sunday of Advent heralds four weeks of preparation for Christmas Day and the Christmas season. The Advent-Christmas combination is followed by a relatively short season of Ordinary Time before Ash Wednesday ushers in the forty days of Lent. The observance of Lent culminates in the solemn celebrations of Holy Thursday, Good Friday and the Easter Vigil that lie at the heart of the year. The ensuing fifty days of the festive Easter season come to a glorious close on Pentecost Sunday. Finally the church embarks on the second and longer part of Ordinary Time, until the "end times" come into view and a new season of Advent begins.
